- 1 38. A method for enabling a user to perform a decorating session for a space, comprising the 2 steps of:
3 (a) receiving, at a web server, a request from a remote client computer for access to a 4 decorating web site supported by the web server; and 5 (b) executing, in response to the request, software to enable the user to perform the 6 decorating session for the space, wherein, during the decorating session, the user is able to:
7 (i) select one or more structural objects represented in a display corresponding to 8 the space; and
9 (ii) select a decorative material from a plurality of available decorative materials to 10 be applied to each selected structural object independent of the decorative materials selected for any 11 other structural object, wherein the software controls the appearance of the decorative material based on 12 one or more characteristics of the structural object in the space.
